Ananse the Spider

Following our excursion to Brocklesby, K/1/2 students wrote a recount of the Ananse story. Here are three examples of their work.

Ananse Story by Evie Torrens

Once upon a time a long, long, long time ago, there was a place called Ghana. And in Ghana there was a jungle, and in that jungle there was a nice and peaceful village. And in that village was a spider called Ananse. The village had no stories and so one day Ananse built a web ladder and went up to the Sky God and asked the Sky God what the price was for some stories. The Sky God said a python and a leopard and hornets and bees.

Ananse Story by Lily Trimble

Ananse is a spider who was a boy and he lived in the jungle.

Ananse Story by Isaac Lieschke

One day Ananse the spider went to the Sky God. Ananse said to the Sky God, "We don't have any stories in the jungle. Can we please buy some Stories? "

The Sky God said, “Only if you bring a leopard alive and a big snake and some hornets and bees alive.” Ananse lived in a town called Ghana and Ananse lived on a web near the leopard’s trap.

Photography Day

Next Friday, June 5th, we are having a Photography Day. If possible, could each student bring a camera to school. We realise these can be an expensive item and if not possible that's okay, but it would be very helpful.

Cameras may be left at the front office until needed, and please make sure that the camera is labelled with your family or child’s name.

Thank you,

Cameron Odewahn
